Lorena,

Dustin and I met you with Eric Eisenberg on Wednesday and we wanted to circle back to say how great it was to meet you and learn of all the efforts the San Pedro BID has taken to support downtown. A few executives from our company came out last night for the Art Walk and we were so enthused to see the life that is buzzing in downtown! We also brought a restaurateur from LA that joined us for dinner at the San Pedro Brewing Co., where James Brown greeted them and explained how business can boom for restaurants

It occurred to us how beneficial it would be to meet you and your team next week as we embark on our marketing plans to lease Eric's property.

Coordinating tours and getting compressive lists of restaurants, market & sales data, events, maps, pictures - Dustin and I are assembling all the relevant information that prospective tenants have, so naturally we should stop in again and spend more time at your office.

Let us know how your schedule looks, we look forward to getting better acquainted.
